Course Descriptions

This course introduces Political Science Honours students to the structure, performance, and policy management of the Bangladesh economy, with emphasis on how economic decisions are shaped by, and in turn shape, political and administrative processes. It begins with an overview of macroeconomic trends in growth, savings, and investment before moving into the fiscal, monetary, and external sectors that underpin national economic management. Particular attention is given to the agriculture and industrial sectors, the role of state-owned enterprises, and the ongoing shift toward private sector-led development. The course also examines employment, wages, and poverty trends alongside government efforts in human development and social protection, and closes with a look at infrastructure, environmental challenges, and Bangladesh's climate vulnerability. Rather than treating economics as a technical subject in isolation, the course consistently draws out its political dimensions: budget-making as a political act, regulatory reform as a contest of interests, and development planning as a reflection of governance priorities. By the end, students should be able to follow Bangladesh's economic policy debates with confidence and understand economic performance as part of the larger picture of governance.

Course Objective

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Build a working understanding of Bangladesh's macroeconomic structure, growth performance, and the institutional framework within which economic policy is formulated and implemented.
2. Examine the role and performance of the agriculture, industrial, and external sectors in Bangladesh's development, along with the government policies that shape them.
3. Assess the fiscal and monetary management practices of Bangladesh, including public revenue and expenditure, taxation, budgetary management, banking, and financial sector reforms.
4. Analyze trends in employment, wages, prices, and poverty in Bangladesh, and evaluate the effectiveness of government programs addressing these areas.
5. Develop the ability to critically connect Bangladesh's economic performance with questions of governance, public policy, and political decision-making, so that economic issues can be read through a political science lens.
